MOLDERS of public opinion—blah! The Rev. Father Charles E. Coughlin, radio priest who took Al Smith to task for his attack on Roosevelt, turned full of praise to the newspapers and said: "The press... can do the most constructive work in the history of journalism by molding the minds of the reading public." The phrase "molding public opinion" is a sore subject around newspaper offices. I'll let the editor of the Harrison (Ark.) Daily Times tell about it:

Woman Member Defends Paroling Under Penal Law

Mrs. Joe Stortz Says Objectors Should First Change the Law

SERVE 1-3 OF TERM

But If Procedure Is Wrong, Fault Lies in Law, She Declares

LITTLE ROCK.—(P)—Reminding opponents of the state parole system that it was established by law and will remain the same until the legislature changes it, Mrs. Joe Stortz, member of the state penal board, has gone on record in defense of the practice that allows convicts to gain freedom after service of one-third their terms.

Mrs. Stortz has given much of her time to a study of the parole system and the problems arising under it, and especially has she taken an interest in the women prisoners at the State Farm for Women at Jacksonville, relying them to procure employment when paroled or discharged and aiding them in re-establishing themselves in society.

The parole law provides that any prisoner, who has conducted himself according to prison rules, becomes eligible to be paroled after serving one-third of his sentence. The law provides that the board, upon application of the prisoner, may grant the parole.

"If that parole system is wrong," Mrs. Stortz said, "it is the law and we must follow it. If opponents desire a change, then they must change the law."

"The statutes offer the prisoner a right to discharge on parole when he has satisfactorily served one-third of his sentence. It would be an arbitrary course for the board to pursue to deny the application of a prisoner who had kept the prison rules and followed the law."

"I do not know whether the board could refuse a parole where it is shown the prisoner under the law is entitled to it. I would like to see this point tested out in the courts."

Road Department Pays Largest Tax

Tax on Highway Crews' Gasoline $10,500 During November

LITTLE ROCK.—(P)—The state highway department is the state's best gasoline tax customer.

During November, the department through its seven maintenance districts purchased approximately 175,000 gallons of gasoline, paying about $10,500 in gasoline taxes which are collected by the state revenue department.

James R. Rhine, director of highways, estimated that for the past year, the department had paid into the bond refunding fund approximately $100,000.

Under the present setup, the revenue department deducts for its expenses of collection a pro rata share of the revenues from each tax collector's office, which are collected by the state revenue department.

Thus the highway department is a big contributor toward the revenue department's expenses.

Another contribution the highway department makes is toward county road maintenance through the tax it pays on gasoline.

One-sixth of the tax goes to the county turnback fund, which is distributed to the counties on the basis of population, area and the number of motor vehicles registered.

Since the highway department's $2,000,000 a year maintenance appropriation is approximately two-sevenths of the total collections from highway tax sources, the highway department is doing much toward paying its own way.

New Fish Hatchery

MAMMOTH SPRINGS, Ark.—(P)—A tract of land near Evening Shade has been examined as a possible site for a state game fish hatchery. If approved, the hatchery will be constructed with the aid of Public Works funds.

SUITOR KILLS WOMAN

4 New Road Jobs Approved; Include DeAnn Link to 67

This Project Serves Experiment Station and Northeast County

PATMOS LINK TO 29

Tokio and Ozan-McCaskill Are Other Approved Projects

Four additional highway projects were approved Wednesday as part of the re-employment program in Hempstead county under the Civil Works Administration.

This brings the total highway projects to 11 in Hempstead county, seven of which are already under way with a crew of approximately 600 men. Mileage for the four new highway improvements is 22, boosting the total to 62. Actual work is expected to begin Thursday with a crew of 150 men.

R. B. Stanford, CWA engineer, announced the new projects as:

Experiment Farm Road—One and one-half miles of gravel road north from paved No. 67 past the Fruit & Truck Branch Experiment Station. Interested farmers contributed right-of-way for the road, which leaves the paved route of No. 67 east of the Missouri Pacific viaduct at Hope, travels north to the experiment station, where it intersects the old gravel route of No. 67, and thence to DeAnn.

The new road will not only serve DeAnn, but will shorten the distance to concrete pavement for residents on the old gravel road.

The three other projects are: Graveling of 10 miles of road from Palmos leading west to Highway No. 29, intersecting the Hope-Lewisville road about 12 miles south of this city. Graveling of 2 1/2 miles of road from Tokio toward Highway No. 27. Re-graveling of 8 miles of the Ozan-McCaskill road.

Foremen have been assigned for the new projects and work will start Thursday.

Other Seven Projects—The other seven highway projects under way are: Ozan to Bingen. Hope to Spring Hill. Spring Hill to Dooley's Ferry, which includes construction of a bridge over Bois d'Arc creek. McNab-Columbus road. Emmet to Beard's Chapel. Sixteenth street at Hope to intersection of old Spring Hill road, which is a special project of two miles for capable unemployed men over the age limit. Hope-DeAnn road.

2,000 Additional Men—LITTLE ROCK.—(P)—An additional 2,000 persons for employment on Civil Works Administration projects were allotted to Arkansas Wednesday, bringing the state's quota to 64,000. W. R. Dyess, state CWA director, announced.

Dyess said there will be no delay from now on in getting men to work.

Insult to Leave Greece by Dec. 31

Refugee's Police Permit Expires Then—Greece Wishes Peace

ATHENS.—(P)—It was learned Tuesday night that the Greek government will request Samuel Insull, former Chicago utilities magnate, to leave Greece at the expiration of his police permit December 31, 1933.

Insull, it was explained, has no passport for any country which Insull desires to enter from Greece.

This action would be the result of the Greek government's decision to do all possible to avoid disturbing friendly relations with the United States which has made repeated representations desiring Insull's extradition to face criminal charges in Chicago in connection with the bankruptcy of his utilities concerns.

Young Business Men to Meet Wednesday

The Young Business Men's association of this city will meet Wednesday night at the city hall. The meeting will start promptly at 7:15. All members are urged to be present.

Most of us would be just as off, and far happier, if we put the business of worrying high on our list of "don'ts."

'Elected,' Huey's Candidate Says She's Willing to Enter Primary

Hand-Picked Nominee Wins Without Opposition, Then Relents.

NEW ORLEANS, La.—(P)—Mrs. Bolivar Kemp, claimed by the administration to have been elected to congress in a surprise election in the Sixth congressional district Tuesday, offered Wednesday to cancel the results of the election and enter a primary for the post.

Long's Effigy Burned

BATON ROUGE, La.—(P)—Amidst the smoke of burned ballot boxes and a defiant show of arms by protesting citizens, state administration forces under the direction of Senator Huey P. Long Tuesday succeeded in holding a congressional election in three-fourths of the Sixth Louisiana district.

The election was only a formality, for the printed ballot contained only one name, that of Mrs. Bolivar E. Kemp, Senator Long's choice for the vacant seat, who was designated as "the unopposed nominee" by administration forces which refused to hold a party primary.

Senator Long directed the election from his hotel suite in New Orleans. The town of Plaquemine, in Iberville parish, followed the lead of Tangipahoa Tuesday night in arranging a public meeting to burn the senator in effigy.

Placards borne through the town, invited attendance at the demonstration, read: "In effigy now, in prison next."

Later Tuesday citizens of Livingston parish assembled in Denham Springs and burned effigies of Senator Long, Gov. O. K. Allen, Chairman, and Representative Mike Sharp, an administration supporter. The demonstration occurred on the main street of the town.

California Doctor Slain; Wife Held

"Didn't Hear or See a Thing," She Tells Police

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—(P)—Dr. W. Dewey Wightman, prominent physician, was shot and beaten to death in his palatial home overlooking Silver Lake early Wednesday.

Detectives took into custody for questioning his attractive red-haired wife, Josephine, a former nurse. "I didn't hear or see a thing," was all she would say.

The couple are parents of three children, ranging from 14 months to 5 years.

City to Check Up on Local Drainage

Amendment to Plumbing Ordinance Placed on First Reading

A motion introduced by Alderman Roy Anderson and passed at a meeting of the city council Tuesday night empowered the City Board of Health to appoint an engineer to check up on drainage conditions within the city in an effort to improve general health conditions.

The appointment is expected to be announced within the next few days. An ordinance to amend the present plumbing law was introduced by Alderman Keith. It was read one time, and deferred for further action. All monthly bills were ordered paid, which concluded the meeting.

Hot Springs Votes to Protect Lakes

Bond Issue Approved to Build Sewage Disposal Plant

HOT SPRINGS, Ark.—With the great mass of voters displaying apathy toward the proposal, Hot Springs in a special election Tuesday gave its approval to a bond issue of $175,000 for construction of sewage disposal plants to prevent pollution of Lakes Catherine and Hamilton.

The vote was 725 for the bond issue and 130 against, a majority of nearly seven to one. With less than 1,000 votes being polled, it was the lightest balloting of any election held here in recent years.

GRANTED YEAR'S DELAY

WASHINGTON.—(P)—The war department Monday announced it had granted permission to Sam A. Robertson, for one year's delay in beginning construction of a causeway and bridge across the Laguna Madre, from the mainland near Port Isabel, Texas, to Brazos Island. Under the revised permit for construction of the bridge work will begin January 16, 1935, and be completed within two years.

Hail Storm Rakes County, Damaging Many Residences

School Dismissed at Saratoga to Allow Repairs to Building

INCH OF RAINFALL

Woman Killed in Tornado's Wake Near Shreveport

A severe hail and rain storm struck parts of Hempstead county late Tuesday, damaging roofs and breaking windows of several homes.

Saratoga, located in the northwest corner of the county, bore the brunt of the storm. Hail as large as hen eggs fell there.

Roofs of practically every home in that community were damaged. Hail beat through old roofs, leaving them nearly bare. Several windows were cracked and broken.

Saratoga High School was dismissed Wednesday to allow carpenters to repair the building, damaged by the hail storm which shattered most of the window.

Reports from Columbus said a heavy hail fell there, but no damage was reported from hail.

Word from other parts of the county told of drenching sheets of rain that fell Tuesday afternoon. No damage was reported from wind anywhere in the county.

The rain gauge at the Fruit and Truck Branch Experiment farm registered a total of 1.05 inches of rainfall.

Louisiana Woman Killed

SHREVEPORT, La.—(P)—Tornadoes striking in widely separated sections of north Louisiana Tuesday night claimed one life and resulted in five injured persons being brought to Charity hospital here for treatment.

Mrs. J. C. Manasco, 58, was killed at 6:30 p. m. when a tornado swept through a rural area eight miles east of Many, leveling eight or 10 houses on 10 plantations. Weather conditions were so severe that it was impossible to learn whether any one else was killed or hurt.

Five negroes living between Shreveport and Benton, 15 miles to the north, were injured and brought here for treatment when a tornado destroyed two houses about 7:30 p. m.

Supreme Court Rebuffs Last Attempt to Invalidate Primary

LITTLE ROCK.—(P)—The Arkansas Supreme Court Wednesday apparently terminated the contest by Brooks Hays of the Democratic nomination of D. D. Terry for congress in the Fifth district.

The court denied Hays' petition for a writ of mandamus to compel his supplemental complaint in the election contest.

Judge Harris announced last week he would dismiss the complaint on the ground that it was not legally filed within 20 days after certification of the vote by the county central committee.

Stock Campaign Is Set for Monday

Savings & Loan Drive Postponed Until December 11

The soliciting of local stock in the Hope Federal Savings & Loan Association, which was to have started Tuesday, has been postponed until next Monday, December 11, owing to the prolonged engagement of the organizer, J. Curran Conway, in similar projects already under way elsewhere in the state.

Mr. Conway telephoned from Monticello Tuesday night that he was held over there, and had to visit two other cities before returning to Hope. He said he would return here Monday and assist in the completion of the local organization.

A petition for permission to organize the local association was signed by three local men last week and filed with the Little Rock Federal Home Loan Bank by Mr. Conway, who represents the bank in the field.

Prohibition Goes Out in Good Order

Nothing Rowdy Observed Although Broadway Sits Up Late

NEW YORK.—(P)—So rapid came, and so what? Taxis checked the Forties and the Fifties until 3 o'clock, Wednesday morning and later. Lights burned in the apartments of the Sixties and the Seventies, until dawn.

Not a drunk on Broadway, not a roisterer anywhere. The town simply went legal, really legal.

Speakeasies said "no," sent their customers to licensed restaurants or hotels, said "have a good time, come back when we get our license." Hotels served capacity crowds, labored to please the taste, closed promptly at the curfew set by the state alcoholic control board. Restaurants did the same.

A humorous entertainment entitled "A Womanless Wedding a la Mode" is to be presented at Rosston Saturday, December 9. Included in the cast are: Lee Jarvis, Web East, Joe Whitehead and Harold Fairchild.

REASON FOR DELAY

WASHINGTON.—(P)—The war department Monday announced it had granted permission to Sam A. Robertson, for one year's delay in beginning construction of a causeway and bridge across the Laguna Madre, from the mainland near Port Isabel, Texas, to Brazos Island. Under the revised permit for construction of the bridge work will begin January 16, 1935, and be completed within two years.

Compromise Nearing for Bond Refunding

LITTLE ROCK.—(P)—After an overnight study of data and an exchange of ideas in their preliminary meeting, representatives of the state's direct bondholders Wednesday requested that the state's subcommittee submit its plan of refunding with present payments of interest to be based on depression revenues.

The proposal called for payment of such interest during the economic difficulty as the state is able to pay, and a gradual increase of rates to those contained in the original bonds.

The subcommittee recessed until Wednesday afternoon to work out a counter-proposal.

Lindberghs Reach Brazil in Safety

They Fly 1,875 Miles Over Atlantic in 15 Hours 55 Minutes

NATAL, Brazil.—(P)—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh arrived here Wednesday after a flight of 1,875 miles from Bathurst, Gambia, Africa, across the south Atlantic.

Streets were gaily decorated for the feat, and were thronged with huge crowds which gathered to greet the famous American couple.

The Lindberghs arrived at 11:55 o'clock Wednesday morning, Central Standard Time, negotiating the 1,875 miles in 15 hours 55 minutes.

They Take Off

BATHURST, Gambia, Africa.—(P)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh took off from here at 8 p. m. Central Standard Time Tuesday on a 1,900-mile ocean flight to South America and three and a half hours later were 466 miles out over the Atlantic. Mrs. Lindbergh was operating the wireless of the heavily laden monoplane, reporting their progress at intervals.

After a score or more unsuccessful attempts to lift the plane in an almost dead calm, he was helped on his way by a light breeze which rippled the surface of the lower Gambia river.

For four days the Lindberghs had been balked by inability to lift the plane with its heavy load of fuel, required for the longest hop yet attempted in their aerial survey tour of Atlantic ocean airways.

The German steamer Westfalen, which had been in Brazil securing supplies, was due to return to its midatlantic post Tuesday, affording further security for the Lindberghs on their flight. The Westfalen is used by the German Luftwaffe as a refueling base for transatlantic flights.

By veering slightly northward off a direct course to Natal, Brazil, they could also stop at St. Paul's island, a French possession in midatlantic. F. F. de Noronha, a volcanic island 125 miles off the west coast of Brazil, offered another possible landing place.

Calculations based on the known speed of Colonel Lindbergh's plane fixed the approximate time of a flight across the south Atlantic at 14 hours or less.

Beautifying Roads in Seven Counties

Federal Money Spent Planting Trees and Sodding High Hills

LITTLE ROCK.—(P)—Beautification of the state highway system is in progress in seven counties, with the largest amount of money being spent in Garland county.

Under the National Recovery Highway program, 40,000 was allotted to Arkansas and the money is being spent on Garland, Clark, Union, Crittenden, Miller, Pulaski and Sebastian counties. Garland was allotted $5,000 each, the other counties $5,000 each.

Planting of trees along the roads, sodding of high hills, repairing shoulders and sodding of fills constitute the major projects.

Reorganization Is Offered Counties

Model Salary Bill May Be Initiated Locally Over State

LITTLE ROCK.—(P)—Preparation of a model county salary act for initiation next year in counties which desire to change their present systems has been completed by a joint committee named by the Arkansas State Chamber of Commerce, the County Taxpayers association, and the People's Conference on Government.

Neill C. Marsh, of El Dorado, is chairman of the committee.

The proposed act as drafted closely follows the salary act which abolished the fee system as a means of motivation for county officers, placed officials and their deputies on fixed salaries, and fixed the number of deputies for each office.

Robinson Opposed to Paper Money Issuance

EARLE, Ark.—(P)—United States Senator Joe T. Robinson said in an address here that he would use his influence in congress to prevent "the unrestricted printing of paper money."

Movements to issue greenbacks are underway among members of both houses of congress, he said.

He said he thought Alfred Smith's attack on the administration's policy "resulted because of fear that the Roosevelt program would lead to printing of much paper money to carry out inflation."

Chicagoan Enters Hot Springs House and Slashes Two

Murders Woman, Wounds Daughter, and Commits Suicide

DIE AT BREAKFAST

Intruder Wields Knife, Then Takes Dose of Poison and Dies

HOT SPRINGS, Ark.—(P)—A man who identified himself as Jack Walton, of Chicago, burst into a rooming-house here Wednesday, fatally stabbed Mrs. Stella Shattas, 30, Chicago, wounded her daughter Irene, 12, probably fatally, and then ended his own life with poison.

Mrs. Shattas had been here since October 6 seeking a divorce from her husband, Charles.

She and her daughter were eating breakfast when the man burst in. He had given the name Jack Walton while inquiring about a room at the rooming-house. The proprietor heard screams and rushing to her room found the door locked.

As he broke in the woman ran out screaming and bleeding, followed by the girl, who also was slashed.

The man had a bottle in his hand when the proprietor entered, and said it contained nitro-glycerine.

The woman was dead when taken to a hospital, and the girl died soon afterward.

From letters signed "J. W." of officers attributed the tragedy to a disappointed suitor.

Mrs. Lewallen Is Winner of Prize

Hempstead County Woman Captures Award in Canning Competition

Mrs. Riley L. Lewallen, Hope Route One, took a prize of $1 for a jar of sliced cucumber pickles which she entered in the international canning contest held at Chicago October 19-20 by the manufacturers of Colman's mustard.

Atlanta Sales corporation wrote from Rochester, N. Y., as follows: "To have been awarded a prize was no small achievement in view of the excellence of the many jars submitted, and we wish to extend our sincere congratulations."

Tax Suits Are Ready to File

TEXARKANA.—L. C. Boswell, delinquent tax collector, announced Monday morning that he had put on additional men in his office of help in the working up of the delinquent tax suits to be filed as soon as possible.

Boswell announced that he had 50 suits prepared for filing as soon as verification of the school board had been obtained. The additional men have been added, he said, in order that the board could go over and approve suits as possible to go over and approve at their meeting.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington

There'll Be No Worry on How to Spend Leisure on Small Town Newspaper. . . Brewers Will Steer Clear of Evil. . . Liquor Monopoly Plan Turned Down by F. R. . . Caffrey Takes New "Vice" to Cuba.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
 NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—The inside story of the delay on the newspaper publishing side is epitomized in this communication received at NEA, from the owner of a daily in a town in Tennessee:

"I am writing you to the best of my ability, the editorial executives and writers that work on our paper. To be exact, there is no such thing as an exclusive editorial writer or executive on a small-town newspaper. I am a general, an president and general manager of the company. I write ads, write copy, conduct a special column in the paper, run presses if necessary, make calls if the stereotyper is sick, print the paper in case the pressman is off, make up the pages if the make-up man is off, or sick, and lots of things that are an advertisement."

"The time spent part of the time in the office looking after the collection of bills, and I go on to attend to other news and advertising.
 Our editor does practically the same thing. I do except he is not a practical printer and cannot do any of the mechanical work. Our regular advertiser man solicits and writes ads, and makes prices on jobs and delivers such work to the printer as his car after it, and the printer looks after everything. I have answering telephones to handle the windows. Our young boy in the office looks after the society, writes features and is the star reporter."

"Not the 'freedom of the press' issue, but the difficulty of devising provisions properly applicable to both big newspapers and little newspapers has been holding up that code."

"Brewers Shut Evil"
 Big brewers, about to come under a code, are thinking of establishing an official chain of attractive beer gardens with no hard liquor for sale.
 They want to shut out all associations and would like to control wholesaling and retailing of beer. They hope for widest possible distribution in bottles and a popular conception of beer as a soft drink.

"What! $1.50 a quart? No!
 Proposal for a liquor monopoly through a federal corporation was the brain child of Dr. Rex Tugwell, assistant secretary of agriculture. Setting a maximum grain price to farmers and a minimum price to consumers, Tugwell argued in secret conferences
 'whisky' could be sold profitably at $1.50 a quart. He was supported by Economic Adviser Mordecai Ezekiel.

"Secretary Wallace mildly backed
 Tugwell, and AAA Administrator
 George Fock opposed him. But Wallace didn't want to take the liquor control problem under his wing. He felt his department had trouble enough with genuinely agricultural issues and that liquor grain didn't mean enough to farmers to become a major AAA interest."

"Roosevelt turned down the monopoly plan. He thought it was legally doubtful and politically questionable, that voters wanted the federal government to get as far away from liquor control as possible. But he told Wallace an AAA code offered the best means for immediate solution and flung to the idea of temporary federal control, price protection and supervision of production. If a federal monopoly was wanted, he said, that was up to Congress."

"The Treasury, not AAA, is now the dominating influence in control plans.
 New Vice for Cuba
 There'll be fewer burned fingers in the State Department now that Enoy Jefferson Caffrey goes to Cuba. Caffrey's worst vice is persistent chewing of match stems. His secretary saves the sulphured ends and gives them to match-burners."

Our Automobiles Now Will Have Knees; Spring Suspension to Eliminate Bumps

At present, the wheel hits a bump and up lifts the whole body

In the new cars, the wheel hits a bump and up goes the wheel alone—the body stays level.

The coil spring type of wheel suspension.

The quarter-elliptic transverse spring type of wheel suspension, with pump action.

(Courtesy The Autocar and Motor, England.)

LETOIT—"Knees" on automobiles is a happy bunch of an ingenious advertising writer.

Independent spring suspension, the technical term for "knees," is an idea that has languished in the minds of automobile engineers for 10, 30 years, finally to come to the light in America.

And so, when you visit the 1934 automobile show, the first thing that will be brought to your attention will be the knee action of the front wheels. New to America, this idea has been in actual practice on several European motor cars for at least five years.

U. S. to Adopt Ideal
 Here it is promised for all General Motors products, for the Hudson, for at least two Chrysler cars, one of which will be the Plymouth, and perhaps for other independent automobiles.

Independent wheel suspension is the placing of all four wheels on individual units so that the action of each will be entirely apart from the rest.

At present, the two wheels in front and the two in the rear are connected solidly by an axle, so that when one of the wheels rises over an elevation or sinks into a rut, the wheel at the other end of the axle, and in fact the entire body, is tilted at the right angle made by the rise or drop.

In other words, there is a stiffness to the body which the new type of suspension will correct.

Given the "knee action," each wheel rises or falls independently of the others and so reduces the tilt of the body to a minimum.

Two Types Used
 Two types of suspension are used, in most cases, to bring this about. One is the coil spring placed vertically alongside the wheel to take up the shock of a rise or drop and so keep the body level.

The other type makes use of quarter-elliptic transverse springs—Henry Ford, take notice—in combination with the pump or plunger principle of shock absorbers.

As the wheel strikes a bump or rut, the plunger rises or falls in its cylinder just inside the wheel along with the same action in the spring.

The axle, in both cases, is no more than a cross-member foundation for the front and rear of the body. The wheels revolve on individual spindles attached directly to the springs or pistons, as the case may be.

Only on Front Wheels
 On the new cars, only the front wheels will have "knees." It's costly enough to put the new suspension there without going into the additional expense—and a host of trouble—of adding the innovation to the rear.

But with only front "knees," engineers say, the cars will be improved greatly in riding comfort. There will be less of that "shimmy," or "tramp," or other exasperating steering difficulties the driver has encountered even in the latest types of automobiles.

But, look out! You'll have to be more careful in driving, for the mechanism will be much more intricate and delicate than is the present simple axle, king-pin, and spindle combination.

Would Abolish Juries

Editor The Star: One of your recent and always-excellent editorials touching the subject of the reorganization of our state government is the source of this ebullition.

Serious thought, when applied to the operation of our present system, leads one very near the skeptical conclusion that the people are incapable of self-government. The fact that we completely go along under the present set-up is amazing. The inefficiency is scandalous; the waste criminal; the whole outfit in keeping with conditions prevailing a century ago, though somewhat antiquated, as of that time.

As one outstanding example of the present system, consider our circuit courts. The whole procedure rightly belongs in the limbo of forgotten things. It all amounts to a conglomeration of farce. The game is nothing like worth the candle. There is no longer any place in this country for such an institution as a circuit court. That and the jury system should go together. They should be gone.

I have seen several outlines of proposed state-government reorganizations. It seems to me that none of them go far enough. They are too timid. They do not cut deep enough. What the state needs is something that will cut to the quick; something that will cut the heart out of this cancerous growth upon the body politic.

Details are voluminous and I am omitting. Here's my skeleton:

1. Reduce the number of counties to 25 or 30.

2. A judge for each county clothed with the powers now possessed by the circuit, chancery and county judges, with court open for business, as and when presented; also a prosecuting attorney and "people's counsel," being one and the same, for each county.

3. As far as may be, abolish the jury system, and curtail the activities of what is left to the limit.

4. Abolish the Legislature and in lieu thereof provide a governor's council of seven—two from each congressional district—clothed with the power that the legislature now has, each of whom will be in charge of one of the seven departments of state.

5. Abolish the primary; return to a guarded convention system.

6. Elect all public officials for a four-year period, making them ineligible to immediately succeed themselves.

7. Provide courts of impeachment.

By BRUCE CATTON

Brave indeed is the man who will dare publish what already had been turned down by others. For the profits of such an enterprise are not very promising.

In the face of this discouraging prospect, however, comes a book of short stories that had received just such treatment on the part of American and European publishers, but that promises to make one of the year's finest literary collections.

The book is "A Story Anthology," and contains 33 stories by as many authors, many of whom already have become famous in this field. It is edited by Whit Burnett and his wife, Martha Feley, both editors of the literary magazine, "Story," where these pieces first saw the light.

These stories, for the greater part, were turned down originally, but not because they lacked merit. They came back to the authors because of various editorial prejudices and, in the case of a Hungarian author, Georg Balint, for political reasons.

In some cases the authors did not even bother to offer their stories for publication, because they felt beforehand that their efforts would be rejected.

Refuge was found in the little magazine, "Story," which first took to publication in Vienna, then on the island of Majorca, and now in New York. Here the Burnetts dared political prejudices for literary merit and became the haven for European as well as America authors.

Their product is a valuable contribution to international literature. The book is printed by Vanguard Press and sells for $2.50.

No one can live in a community, enjoy its privileges and draw his substance therefrom without becoming lastingly indebted to the community, its people and institutions, and that obligation is a debt of loyalty the discharge of which is incumbent upon him as opportunity offers.

For the government, as for an individual, there is but one way to reduce taxes—spend less money.

New York Banks Join U. S. Program

Morgan Units Set Example for Weaker Banks by Accepting U. S. Stock

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—The government Tuesday became a partner in more than half the leading banks of New York city with the selling of 12 institutions of $93,700,000 of their capital notes and preferred stock to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

The sale was announced by Jesse H. Jones, corporation chairman, who said that while the banks did not need the capital they action had lent weight to the administration's program of strengthening the banking system throughout the country.

The Savings Banks Trust Company, formed recently by a group of New York savings banks, previously had sold $50,000,000 of its capital notes to the corporation and the manufacturers trust company had sold $25,000,000.

The banks which made applications today are:
 Bank of Manhattan Company, $3,000,000 capital notes; Bank of New York and Trust Company, $1,000,000 capital notes; Bankers Trust Company, $5,000,000 capital notes; Central Hanover Bank and Trust Company, $5,000,000 capital notes; Chemical Bank and Trust Company, $5,000,000 capital notes; Corn Exchange Bank and Trust Company, $3,000,000 capital notes; Fifth Avenue Bank, $200,000 capital notes; Fulton Trust Company, $250,000 capital notes; Guaranty Trust Company, $20,000,000 capital notes; Lawyers County Trust Company, $250,000 capital notes; Marine Midland Trust Company, $1,000,000 capital notes and National City Bank, $50,000,000 preferred stock.

All the banks that sold capital notes are state banks which under the New York banking law cannot issue preferred stock, Jones said. However, the capital notes in every respect except name are preferred stock.

The Bankers Trust and the Guaranty Trust company, in the above list of New York banking houses, are controlled by J. P. Morgan & Co.

No man can tell what the future may bring forth, and small opportunities are often the beginning of great enterprises.

Spring Hill

Spring Hill is on a boom, every man, white and black is either at work on the road or standing around trying to get to work. We will soon have a fine road that we have been in need of for a long time.

Quite a few of our people are loosing their meat on account of the warm weather.

Mr. and Mrs. Felix Foster had as their Thanksgiving guests, Mrs. May Payne and her sister, Ruby, and their families. They are remembered to their friends as May and Ruby Rothwell.

Mrs. John Momen and daughter, Wandagene spent the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Conner.

Mrs. Tom Clark and children, of Prescott, spent a few days of last week with her mother, Mrs. Garner.

Gaston Young of Stamps spent the week-end with his brother, Sam Young of this place. The girls basketball team played Saturday here Thursday. The score was 10 to 12 in favor of Spring Hill. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Roberts of near DeAnn are moving back to Spring Hill this week.

A very interesting meeting of the W. M. S. of the First Christian church was held on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Thomas Kinser on South Main street, with Mrs. J. F. Porterfield as joint hostess. The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. J. F. Gorin and following the reading of the minutes of the last meeting, Mrs. C. S. Lowthorp, leader for the afternoon, gave a very inspiring devotional, a splendid paper was read by Miss Genevieve Dault and Mrs. W. F. Smer gave a most comprehensive report from the all day meeting recently held in Prescott and a very delightful Christmas story was given by Miss Elise Reed, following a short business period, the hostesses served an ice course with cake.

Miss Thelma Griffith of Little Rock is the guest of Misses Elizabeth and Alice Brier.

Circle No. 3 of the Women's Missionary Society of the First Methodist church held their December meeting on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. M. Brient on North Washington street. The meeting opened with the hymn, "Blest Be the Tie That Binds" followed by a prayer by Miss Dell McClanahan. A most inspiring devotional was given by Mrs. J. B. Koene, using as her scripture base, the 13th chapter of First Corinthians. Mrs. J. M. Houston presented a very interesting program on "Woman's Place in the Church." Assisting on the program were Mrs. J.

150 Persons Needed for Local Stage Show "Gaieties of 1933"

The services of Arty Fox, former stage director of the Rexy theater, New York, have been secured by Arthur Swanke to produce the "Gaieties of 1933" within the next two weeks at the local playhouse. Mr. Fox comes highly recommended to Hope from both the Public and Fox circuit of theaters for whom he has been producing these musical shows.

Mr. Fox will need for this musical, 150 persons, ranging in age from 7 to 20 years, and he wants acrobatic dancers, ten and acrobatic dancers, blues singers, male ballad singers and instrumental acts. Specialty acts such as whistlers, comedians and dramatic artists are especially urged to apply to Mr. Fox at the theater at any time from 1 o'clock on, starting Thursday. Experience is not necessary as all who enter will be trained free of charge. Rehearsals will start at once.

Inflation? Over Heads of New Yorkers

Gulliver, the Gullible Giant, who took in the big city sights in a big way, might have had a dandy time parading down New York's Broadway if the strong wind hadn't buckled his knees and the elevated railroad structure scraped his nose. A trifle awed, here you see the 65-foot helium-inflated giant, in the shadow of another giant, the Empire State Building, at Journey's end. Gulliver was "outstanding" in R. H. Macy's annual parade.

Famous Driver Reverses Auto Body, Proves Car Travels Better Backwards

You don't have to believe it but take it from Harry Hartz, noted race pilot and automotive engineer, it's true—the ordinary automobile would run better, faster, and safer if its body were reversed on the chassis. To prove his point, Harry reversed a body on a standard car and was a sensation in Detroit and New York, astonishing police and public. Lower picture, he explains to "Sugar" idol of Central Park's kids, that he is really going the right way and that is the best way to go because the wind resistance is more than 20% less if the bigger end goes first. Harry saves fuel, time, money, worry and driver's strain. Upper inset, Harry's famous "56" racer that gave him the idea. He studied aerodynamics and turned the body around, rounding the nose and tapering the rear. The results so astonished Harry that he broke twelve records and his more recent experiments have clinched his opinion that if one doesn't have a scientifically streamlined car then the next best thing is to drive the conventional car with body reversed.

Called to Testify in Father's Death

A domestic tragedy centered on six-year-old Sheldon Clark 3rd when he was called to testify in the fatal shooting of his father following a quarrel with the boy's mother at their Paulsboro, N. J., home. Here he's shown waiting outside the grand jury room in Woodbury, N. J.

Sky Ride Don Juan—That Was Wynekoop

Heart breaker of the Sky Ride was Earle Wynekoop, the man of 50 loves, whose amorous entanglements were bared by the murder of his wife, Rheta, in Chicago. So numerous were his affairs that he kept a diary of smitten maidens, listing their characteristics by code. In typical pose as he tried his "line" on Mary Gerken, World's Fair cashier, Wynekoop is shown resting on a bench in all his unbridled splendor during a lull in his day's work as Sky Ride attendant. At right is Flo Conley, another girl friend, who worked in one of the Fair's electrical exhibits, listed in the diary as "2-4-9-10," translated as "blond, pretty, exhibit, sentimental."

Fear Wealthy Couple Slain

Finding of a blood-stained auto near Bristow, Okla., has started a far-flung search for Jack Wisdom, top, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Pritchard, below. Pritchard, wealthy business man of Wichita, Kan., and his wife left their home Nov. 23 with a man believed to be Wisdom, a ranch hand, and police fear they were slain. Wisdom also is wanted for questioning in the death of a fellow worker, whose body was found in a well.

Buying Power of Hogs

Based on the fair exchange relationship with prices of things farmers buy, hogs during the past decade have had materially less purchasing power than they had in the pre-war period. In 1933, it took about eight hogs to buy what three hogs would buy in the 1910-13 period as indicated above. In all the years since 1929-31 (excepting in 1925-26 when there was a temporary reduction in hog supply) the purchasing power of hogs has been on a general downward trend. In 1932, the fair exchange value of hogs was $7.75 per hundredweight. The prices of things farmers buy averaged slightly above their pre-war level. But the actual farm price of hogs in 1932 was only $3.47 per hundredweight, or $1.28 below fair exchange value. Fair exchange value means the pre-war price for hogs only when the price of things farmers buy is at the pre-war level. If the price of things farmers buy become double their pre-war level, then the fair exchange value will be double the pre-war price of hogs. The corn-hog production adjustment program under the Agricultural Adjustment Act seeks to raise hog prices to the current fair exchange value. This may be done by bringing production into better balance with the most profitable demand through a reduction in 1934 of 25 percent in hog production and 20 percent in corn acreage.

U. S. Liquor Czar

Regulating temporary liquor control measures for the government pending enactment of permanent legislation is the responsibility of Joseph H. Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.
Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agents for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other leading elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, and attacks the seat of the trouble.
Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Your own druggist is authorized to refund your money on the spot if your cough or cold is not relieved by Creomulsion. (Adv.)

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

THE NEWFANGLES (Mom'n Pop)

The UNKNOWN BLOND

By Laura Lou BROOKMAN

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Who killed TRACY KING, Arkansas leader found dead in his hotel apartment?

DAVID BANNISTER, a former newspaper reporter, makes a guess.

Among the suspects are an "unknown blond" who visited King shortly before his death; HERMAN SCURLAG, in jail and declaring his innocence; who wrote King a threatening letter; JOE PARROTT, King's former vaudeville partner, with whom he had had trouble; MELVINA HOLLISTER, middle-aged actress who had quarreled with King after he cut killed her career.

The blond suspect is arrested. Bannister talks to her, but she refuses to tell where she came from or anything about her self.

UNUSUAL KING'S SISTER identifies her as the girl she saw talking to King the day before his death. The girl admits going to King's apartment to get some letters, but denies any knowledge of the murder.

Down to Bannister comes MATTHEW HOLLISTER.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXIV

AFTERWARD Bannister was never quite sure what prompted him. He had a premonition—an instinctive warning of some sort—that what this little, insignificant looking man had to say might be important. Extremely important.

He looked about for a place where they might talk without interruption and saw behind them a restaurant. It was a restaurant where he had eaten once or twice—a place that was small, not overly well patronized and clean. At this time of day it was sure to be almost deserted.

Bannister turned and said, "Let's go some where where we can talk. How about this place?"

Matthew Hollister shook his head. "Oh no," he protested. "That's a restaurant. I had lunch a long while ago. I couldn't eat anything now."

Bannister urged him forward. "Then have something to drink," he said. "Any how, I'm hungry. Come and talk to me while I eat."

Inside the restaurant they found places at a small table beside the wall.

A girl in a green dress and white apron approached to take the order. "Cheese sandwich on rye for me," Bannister instructed her. He looked across at Hollister. "What about you? Can't persuade you to have at least a sandwich? And what will you have to drink?"

The little man's eyes brightened. It was obvious that this was an invitation. He looked about the room and some of the meekness that characterized him seemed to disappear.

"I'd—," He hesitated, then went on more boldly, "I'd like a beer."

"Make it two," Bannister told the waitress. "Wait a minute—what kind do you have?"

The waitress told him and Bannister made a selection. Matthew Hollister, without much urging, was persuaded to have a sandwich also.

The girl disappeared and a few minutes later was back, placing the food before them and pouring the amber liquid into glasses topped with snowy foam.

Hollister's pleasure was evident. He raised the glass to his lips and drank deeply. "My!" he said with a sigh of satisfaction, "that's good beer!"

It wasn't, particularly, but Bannister wanted to encourage his guest. "I'm glad you like it," he said, smiling.

SOMEHOW, holding his glass and looking so childishly pleased, Matthew Hollister was more pathetic than ever. The pale eyes behind the spectacles became confiding. "You know," he said, "I don't drink beer often. Melvina doesn't like it. She's as much against beer as she is against whisky and hard liquor. 'Strong drink' is what she calls them and they're all the same to her. Of course, in a way she's right. I don't hold that a man should make a slave of himself to alcohol. No sir! But a glass of beer now and then—well, I don't see that it does much harm and it certainly tastes mighty good! Mighty good!"

Once more he raised the glass to his lips and drank. Bannister remembered what Mrs. Kennebec had said about Melvina Hollister managing her own and her brother's joint income. Was it possible Melvina's hold on the purse strings was so close that a 10-cent glass of beer was, for her brother, a rare treat? It didn't seem probable.

Matthew was enjoying his beer nevertheless. He set the glass down, rested his arms on the table, and leaned toward Bannister. "I'm glad I met you this afternoon, Mr. Bannister," he said. "There are some things I want to talk to you about. Are you a detective?"

Bannister hastened to explain that, strictly speaking, he was not. He was working on the King murder case, however, making a sort of private investigation.

The explanation seemed to satisfy Hollister completely. "That's all I wanted to know," he said. "You're the man I want to talk to!"

"Is it something about the King case?" Bannister asked.

"Yes and no," said Matthew Hollister. "It may be, and then again I may be mistaken. It's about my sister, Melvina, really."

Bannister was suddenly interested. "Your sister?" he repeated.

THE little man nodded. "I think Melvina knows something she's keeping to herself. And it isn't natural for her to be close-mouthed. No sir! If Melvina thinks anything she says it right out, so nobody can misunderstand her."

"What makes you think she's keeping something to herself now?" Bannister asked.

"I'll tell you," Matthew Hollister said. "I'll tell you all about it. It's been worrying me a heap these last few days and I'll be glad to know what you think of it."

He took a bite of his sandwich, then went on. "Melvina told you she was visiting my cousin the night that young fellow was killed upstairs. Well, she was. But she got back 15 minutes later than she told you. It was 9:45 when she came in the apartment. I know because I had the radio going and the 'Saxophone Sizzlers' had just begun their program. I had to turn it off—"

He looked at Bannister apologetically. "I listen to the 'Saxophone Sizzlers' when I'm alone," he went on. "Melvina doesn't like them."

"But it wasn't just that Melvina came in late that night. There's something else. To tell the truth, I think she'd seen something."

③ —about Cigarettes

Not so long ago practically all cigarettes were made by hand

Now, Chesterfields are made by high-speed machines that turn out 750 cigarettes a minute, and the cigarettes are practically not touched by hand.

BY the use of long steel ovens—drying machines of the most modern type—and by ageing the leaf tobacco for 30 months—like wine is aged—Chesterfield tobacco is milder and tastes better.

Only pure cigarette paper—the best made—is used for Chesterfield.

And to make sure that everything that goes into Chesterfield is just right, expert chemists test all materials that are used in any way in the manufacture.

Chesterfields are made and packed in clean, up-to-date factories, where the air is changed every 4½ minutes. The moisture-proof package, wrapped in Du Pont's No. 300 Cellophane—the best made—reaches you just as if you went by the factory door.

In a letter to us, an eminent scientist says:

"Chesterfield Cigarettes are just as pure as the water you drink."
